

Life's stresses aren't a game

Real solutions are close at hand with the Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

Help with stress

A satisfaction survey of employees who used work-life balance EAP shows nearly 75% reported less stress.¹

When you have questions, concerns or emotional issues surrounding your personal or work life, you can count on us to offer help. Unum's work-life balance employee assistance program (EAP) offers unlimited access to master's-level consultants by telephone, resources and tools online, and up to three face-to-face visits with a consultant for help with a short-term problem.*

Help for personal challenges, big and small

Keeping your work and personal life in balance can sometimes be tricky. Stressful situations can affect your health, well-being and ability to focus on what's important.

That's when you can pick up the phone and speak confidentially to a master's-level consultant who can help you or a family member to:

- Locate child care and elder care services and obtain matches to the appropriate provider based on your or your family's preferences and criteria. The consultant will even confirm space availability.
- Speak with financial experts by phone regarding issues such as budgeting, controlling debt, teaching children to manage money, investing for college, and preparing for retirement
- Work through complex, sensitive issues such as personal or work relationships, depression or grief, or issues surrounding substance abuse
- Get a referral to a local attorney for a free, 30-minute in-person or telephonic legal consultation

You'll have access to an attorney for state-specific legal information and services. If you decide to retain the attorney, you may be eligible to receive a 25% discount on additional services.

You also have unlimited website access at lifebalance.net where you can:

- Read booklets, life articles and guides
- View videos and online seminars, as well as listen to podcasts
- Subscribe to email newsletters
- Find information on parenting, retirement, finances, education and more

Guidance for work-related conflicts

If you're a manager dealing with staff issues such as an employee who's feeling overwhelmed by his or her workload, you have unlimited access to guidance from a team of consultation experts. Call the toll-free work-life balance EAP number to:

- Have a confidential sounding board and objective view
- Work on communication and problem-solving skills
- Learn how to motivate your employees

If you are a supervisor or working to become one, you can visit the website at lifebalance.net to get information on managing people using resources such as:

- Electronic management newsletters
- Podcasts and articles for managers
- Self-assessment tools to be a better manager

If you would like to listen to podcasts and audio tracks on the go — or read articles or digital booklets on a mobile device — download the LifeWorks mobile app from your app store on your mobile device.

In addition to the LifeWorks app, a wallet card that includes the work-life balance EAP phone number and online access information is available. Please see your human resources department to request one.

* In California and Nevada, employees and their family members may confer with a local consultant up to three times in a six-month time period.

 The consultants must abide by federal regulations regarding duty to warn of harm to self or others. In these instances the consultant may be mandated to report a situation to the appropriate authority.
